407 ETR Creates $125,000 York University Scholarship Fund

TORONTO, September 3, 2007 – 407 ETR announced today the creation of a $125,000 York University scholarship fund that will support York students in graduate studies for years to come.

"407 ETR is used by thousands of students, staff and faculty every day," said Antonio de Santiago, President and Chief Executive Officer of 407 ETR. "Providing a scholarship that will benefit students and our community year after year is our way of saying thanks."

The $125,000 endowment fund will generate $5,000 annually, starting this semester. 407 ETR's $5,000 gift will then be matched two-to-one by the Ontario Graduate Scholarship Program, providing a total of $15,000 to each year's scholarship recipient.

The scholarship is just one more way in which 407 ETR gives back to the communities it serves. The company has also donated $125,000 to SickKids Hospital and supports numerous other charities, organized sports and disaster relief efforts.

"We are grateful that 407 ETR has chosen to support York University students through the creation of this scholarship fund," said Paul Marcus, President and CEO of the York University Foundation. "Ontario Graduate Scholarships are essential, offering increased access to education and recognition of achievement. This generosity will make an enormous difference in the lives of our graduate students."
